ESCAPE WITH THEIR LIVES
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

ALEXANDRIA, VA., December 2.

Twenty people, two women, one girl and seventeen men, had a narrow escape from being burned to death at 5 clock this morning when fire destroyed the big four-story frame building and stores located at St. Elmo. Alexandria County. The fire started on the fourth floor, used for lodge room purposes. Occupants escaped with their clothes, but lost most of their offects. The Washington fire department went to the scene of the fire with a motor truck and gave what assistance they could.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GREENSBORO, N. C., December 2.—
Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, of the University of Virginia, who spent last night here on his way to Raleigh, gave an interview in which he urged the invitation of the entire faculty of the great University of Louvain to the United States while the war prevents it from carrying on the work of the school. The more than 300 members of the faculty are now at Oxford, England, practically as objects of charity. Their worth to this country for a few months would be inestimable, thinks Dr. Smith, and "the international comity thus shown would thrill the world."
